SULZER'S ATTORNEYS PLAN TO BREAK CASE OF MANAGERS' BOARD

Will Question Constitutionality

Ask Definition of 'Larceny'
From Court

DEFENSE WILL NOT OPEN
CASE UNTIL NEXT WEEK

Sudden Closing of Prosecution
Wednesday Left Sulzer's
Lawyers Unprepared - Will
Ask for Adjournment

ALBANY, N. Y., Oct. 2.—Final plans of the Sulzer attorneys in the governor's impeachment trial were drawn in a long conference with the executive early today. Although they made no statement, it was believed that their first step would be to ask for a ruling from the court on two things—the constitutionality of articles one, two and six, and whether the application to private use of funds given without restriction constituted larceny. If the court ruled favorably to the defense on the last of these questions, it was generally admitted the case practically would be at an end.

Most of the board of managers' case was built on these three articles. The question of larceny also was a big one, for with a few exceptions, contributors were not prepared for opening their case. Senator Harvey D. Hinman, who had been selected to open the case for the governor, had not completed his opening statement this morning and he did not know when he would be able to finish it. Doubt, was expressed whether the bill governor's side of the case would be under way until next week. At all events, it was planned to ask today for an adjournment until Monday.

BOOST AMERICA'S TRADE IN EUROPE

Cotton Manufacturers Decide
Tariff Will Change Conditions Much.

(By Associated Press.)
ATLANTA, Oct. 2.—Because keen competition is expected in foreign-made goods through the new tariff law, delegates to the meeting of the National Association of Cotton Manufacturers were warned today to start a campaign in other lands for the sale of American-made goods. The manufacturers were addressed by William Whittam, of New York, on the new tariff and foreign competition.

"We have low competition from abroad of no mean importance," he said, "and under the new schedules we shall have more. Indeed, it may, and likely will be, for a time calamitous. For while we are seeking ourselves to new conditions, the foreign manufacturer will be seeking every weak spot in our armor and attacking us there." Mr. Whittam suggested that an exchange be established in New York along the lines of the Royal Exchange in Manchester, England, which, he said, would automatically reduce the present out of both selling and buying without diminishing net profits.

Says He Lost $5,000 On "Sure Thing" Bet

(By Associated Press.)
ST. LOUIS, Oct. 2.—William J. Young and wife, of Brandon, Manitoba, today appeared to the police here to answer for $5,000 which he had swindled them out of, which was his own money and had bet on a "sure thing" horse race.

Mr. and Mrs. Young traveled 2,000 miles to St. Louis to invest the money which yesterday they turned over to the confidence men in a local hotel. After a five-day fight, the money was left with the money, promising Young and his wife they would return.

According to West Haden, Ind., ten days ago and there was not an affable man who introduced himself as C. H. Kleinfelder. While Young and Kleinfelder were walking about the town they met a man who claimed to be Mr. Hector, of New York. Hector confided to Young and his wife that he was a race track bookmaker and that he had a horse race in which he could make $5,000. He offered them information he could make "big kills."

Kleinfelder professed to be skeptical, but Hector persuaded him and Young to put up one dollar and he would show what he could do.

Later that same day, Hector gave his two friends three dollars each—their first win in a two to one bet. Mr. and Mrs. Young rushed back to Brandon, got $1,000 and went to St. Louis, where their money vanished.

DOCTOR DISAPPEARS ON OCEAN STEAMSHIP Said to Have Boarded Steamer in England, but Was Gone on Reaching Germany

(By Associated Press.)
ANTWERP, Belgium, Oct. 2.—The mystery of the disappearance of Dr. Rudolf Diesel, the German inventor, while on his way from England to Germany, was further deepened today by the assertion of a member of the crew of the channel steamer Dresden, who said Dr. Diesel went on board the steamer at 1:30 o'clock, in the evening of September 29, but on learning that the vessel was not to sail until 7:30, went ashore and was not seen again. The sailor declared he was convinced that Dr. Diesel did not cross the channel. The steward did not enter his name on the cabin list.

Man Says He Dined With Doctor on Board

(By Associated Press.)
LONDON, Oct. 2.—A statement by a waiter that Dr. Rudolf Diesel did not travel on board the steamer Dresden is contradicted by the declaration of George Charles, an official of the Diesel company, that he dined with Dr. Diesel aboard the Dresden and left him on the ship's dock at 10 o'clock on September 29.

CHECKS ARE GIVEN TO CONFEDERATE PENSIONERS

Grave of Young Officer Of Confederacy Unmarked

Where Lieutenant Andrew Jackson Buttram sleeps.

JENNIFER, Ala., Oct. 2.—The picture here shown is the grave of Lieutenant Andrew Jackson Buttram, a Georgian and a Confederate officer who was killed in battle between the blue and gray on April 23, 1865. This was after the surrender of General Lee, of course, but it was before the ending of the war between the states.

It is passing strange that historians and writers have never mentioned this event, and this is probably the first time during all these long years that the information has gone out that there was such a fight as the "Battle of Munford."

In this little skirmish, referred to by citizens here as Crockett's raid, besides Lieutenant Buttram, there were two Federals killed and quite a number of Federals and Confederates wounded.

The bodies of the two Federals were buried about a mile from where they were killed, but some time during the seven years were exhumed and carried to Chattanooga National park and re-interred with military honors.

Lieutenant Buttram was buried on or near the spot where he was killed and an effort is now being made to raise a

HEAVY RAINS MAKE COTTON MEN UNEASY

ROME, Oct. 2.—Heavy rain during the last two days have caused some uneasiness among cotton men of this section, lest the late crop should be seriously damaged. The consensus of opinion, however, is that the cotton was only slightly stained but very little, if any, lowered in grade. The figures to date show that more of the crop had been marketed up to September 29 than any previous summer for number of years.

J. Landry Johnson, of Rome, has been experimenting with some long staple cotton on his farm in Chattahoochee county, and has succeeded in raising one variety of which he has secured 15 1/2 cents, which is 1 1/2 cents above the market.

ADMIRAL'S WIDOW IS SUSPECTED IN DEATH

Inquest Starts Into Death of
Rear Admiral Joseph Giles
Eaton

(By Associated Press.)
HINGHAM, Mass., Oct. 2.—Several new witnesses were heard when the inquest into the death of Rear Admiral Joseph Giles Eaton, a native of Alabama, was resumed today. Those were Mr. and Mrs. John Hill, neighbors of the Eatons at Assinippi, R. I., and of Rockland, a newspaper man who had an interview with the widow soon after her husband's death; and a woman nurse who attended the admiral in his last days. Other witnesses heard were Herbert Simmons, a neighbor, and Earl C. Foreman, a store clerk of Assinippi. Admiral Eaton died of poisoning on March 8 and the inquest, held soon afterwards, was interrupted by the arrest of Mrs. Eaton, who has since been in jail at Plymouth. She is accused of having placed poison in her husband's food. From the first Mrs. Eaton has protested her innocence and, although the plan of the defense has not been disclosed, it is stated that an attempt will be made to show that the admiral died of an overdose of a tonic drug, which it is said he had been in habit of taking.

Says Business Would Be Hurt by Marriage

(By Associated Press.)
MILWAUKEE, Wis., Oct. 2.—Declaring that his business would be ruined if the news of his marriage were made public, one of the applicants for a marriage license at County Clerk Whipple's office today asked that his name be withheld from publication.

"I own a butcher shop and am earning money," he said. "There are more than 100 unmarried young women living in my neighborhood. Because everybody knows that I have money, they would get mad and boycott me. If it were not for my money, I would not be so interested."

"But if they found out I was married they would get mad and boycott me, and I would go to the wall. When they get married I am going to introduce my wife as a new hired girl."

Under the examination of County Clerk Whipple agreed to suppress the man's name.

INVENTOR PRODUCES NEW WAR WEAPONS

New Rifle to Destroy Airships—Powerful Cannon Carried by Two Men

(By Associated Press.)
PARIS, Oct. 2.—An obscure inventor named Save Rogoska, has demonstrated a device, which may revolutionize the rifle firing. His invention consists of a special cartridge and double in-flammable bullet primarily designed for the destruction of airplanes. In his experiments Rogoska used an old gun built in 1850. Although his cartridge was loaded with powder and was as powerful as a modern rifle, it was not as accurate. He fired the rifle and the bullet traveled fast and straight to the butt instead of executing a series of irregular bounds as it should have done according to the laws of ballistics. The bullet carried 1,200 meters, but it is calculated that with a modern rifle it would have carried 2,000 meters. Rogoska also claims to have invented a cannon mounting only 200 francs or about $60, easily carried by two men and which can throw a shell 1,000 meters. Another invention which he has brought forward is a striped shell which scatters its contents along the level of the ground, proving all in its path, instead of dropping from above.

PREPARATIONS TO RAISE MAST OF OLD MAINE

Bids Opened for Setting of Relic in Arlington National Cemetery

(By Associated Press.)
WASHINGTON, Oct. 2.—Final preparations for the erection of the mast of the battleship Maine in Arlington national cemetery here began today with the opening of bids for the construction of a setting for the relic. The mast, which has been lying for some time past in the cemetery, is to stand over the spot where repose the bones of the Maine victims.

The setting is to consist of a circular base of granite similar in contour and effect to the turret of a battleship and designed to harmonize with the stately character of the mast with its right top. On the granite base will be carved the names of the 22 sailors and 28 marines who lost their lives when the Maine went down.

ENGLAND'S BANK RATE SURE TO BE RAISED

Exports to Egypt Sadly Deplete Reserve Fund of British Bank

(By Associated Press.)
LONDON, Oct. 2.—After a prolonged discussion the directors of the Bank of England today decided to raise the bank rate from 4 1/2 to 5 per cent as a precautionary measure to protect the bank's reserve, which has been depleted by over $10,000,000 this week by exports to Egypt. The weekly consignment of gold from South Africa have been absorbed by the continent, where the scramble for gold continues. The discount market scarcely expected the advance today in view of the sterner New York exchange, but it was recognized that some protective measure would be necessary in the near future in order to enable the Bank of England to get the gold arriving from South Africa and build up its reserve, which has fallen much below that of last year. The higher rate, it is expected, will serve as a warning to other quarters to check their prospective gold demands.

These Are Bright, Busy Days In The Ready-to-Wear Store

Things are right!

Therein lies the whole story.

It tells why there is so much enthusiasm among our salespeople.

It tells why customers are so ready to express approval of the suits, dresses and coats they see.

Indeed, things are right! Right to the nth power.

Styles, fabrics, trimmings and the underlying ideas.

You see, there is no guesswork about this ready-to-wear store.

Suits, dresses, coats—styles—are chosen analytically. If there could be such a thing as a style-chemist, we would qualify for the degree.

We have seen that the elements of style abound in the suits, dresses and coats.

They may show in one way, or in another.

Perhaps it's the fabric—for the suits it may be velours, matelasse, duvetyne, peau de peche, self-striped cloths.

Perhaps it is the fashioning—a novel cutaway coat that buttons close at the neck; another that buttons low, and shows a suggestion of a vest—in rich Oriental tapestry; another that blouses at the back and has a wide girdle—all with skirts draped in graceful fashion.

Perhaps it is the trimming—a touch of Oriental colorings; a bit of velvet on a collar; an unusual bow; a girdle; or a button placed here and there.

The style elements show!

And there's such a wonderfully large selection—one suit after another to help you make up your mind.

Not to see them might bring disappointment.

$10.75

For New and Charming Silk Dresses

The wise woman in need of a silk dress will hurry to Chamberlin-Johnson-DuBose Co.'s early tomorrow.

Such dresses are not to be found ordinarily at $19.75.

There's a saving on every one.

Your eyes will tell you that.

The materials are crepe de chine, charmeuse and crepe poplins, in blues, greens, grays and black.

You will see they show the much talked of shadow lace vests. There are delicate little ruchings put in the collars and sleeves—and notable, too, are the plaid skirts that grace the waists, that form girdles, and often a smart peplum. Skirts are draped; set-in and kimono sleeves; drape shoulder effects. No, they were not intended for $19.75 selling.

$10.00

For Jaunty Sport Coats

The cry for Sport Coats is heard throughout America.

The young folks, those who love the big out-of-doors, are accepting every opportunity to wear them (particularly with the new plaid skirts we have been telling of).

And certainly there is a remarkable attractiveness about them; jaunty, free in line, strikingly tailored and finished.

These just arrived are exceptionally priced.

Ten dollars does not measure their worth.

Materials are velour de laine, chinilla and boucle in bright, "Kelly" green, Copenhagen and shades of grey.

Usually they are finished with big white or colored buttons; side pockets—some are belted.
